Heavenly Sign Confirms Rome's Judgment is Near

Friends, this critical update affirms the location of a massive meteor impact off the southern coast of Italy, which this prophecy message links to the 2nd Trumpet of Revelation!

For the past two years, I have discussed the arrival of a meteor whose destruction in Revelation I expect to occur when it strikes the Tyrrhenian Sea near Rome.

About a week ago, an Italian man captured an image over the sea just 200 miles off the southern coast of Italy, not far from where the Tyrrhenian Sea flows into the Mediterranean.

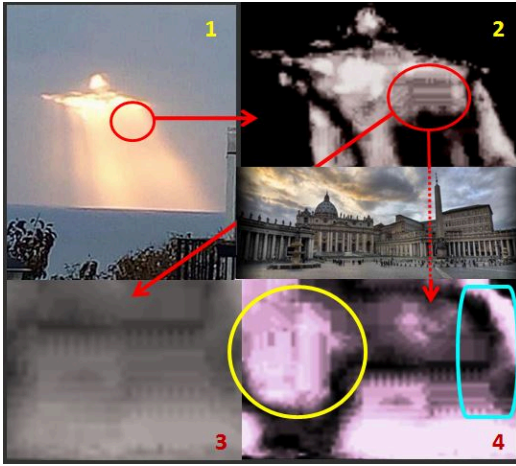

An unusually bright cloud formation near the coastal town of Agropoli had gone viral and millions of people have now seen it.

I was led by the Holy Spirit to do a spectral analysis of this image, first by removing overexposure caused by the sun, and then by using color and contrast filters to enhance details not visible in the published photograph.

Nothing has been added to these images — all details that you see here were derived solely from the source image.

The filtered image reveals a number of geometric shapes that are stunning for their resemblance to Vatican City.

Column-like structures in the image are unmistakable, especially when viewing a picture of the Vatican grounds that I inserted for easy comparison.

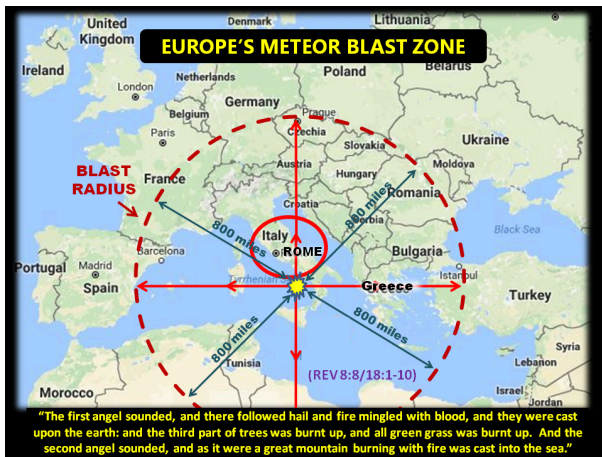

Notice the villa like shape in the yellow circle and how smoke and fire billow out from the area outlined in blue.

Right angles and geometric shapes are not an expected feature of cloud formations apart from divine orchestration.

These images are a clear warning to Rome and the world that Judgment is near!

I believe this image marks the impact site of a massive meteor whose destruction is recorded in Revelation Chapters 8 and 18.

I have updated the meteor impact map I published in 2017 to show the epicenter of the impact (below) which is roughly 200 miles further south than in my original estimate.

This more southern location means a somewhat less dire outcome for France and Germany, but not for Greece.

Remember that Greece produced Antiochus the 4th, a vile Antichrist prototype whose persecution of the Jews was especially brutal.

If the Agropoli cloud formation marks the meteor strike zone as I believe it does, the impact to Italy and Greece will be total devastation.

A 1,600 mile wide blast zone will decimate one third of Europe and perhaps take the lives of one quarter billion souls in a matter of minutes.

Agropoli Italy — 200 miles south of Rome

In January, we talked about the last full lunar eclipse before the end of an 80 year span of time since Israel’s first Prime Minister (David Ben-Gurion) declared the restoration of Palestine.

The Psalmist wrote that the days of man are between 70 and 80 years, and Jesus said the rebirth of modern Jerusalem (represented by a fig tree in Matthew 24) would mark the generation of his return.

Jesus said that a late sign would be the moon turning to blood, or as the color of blood, and the meteor impact would have this effect by ejecting a massive debris cloud into Earth’s atmosphere.

I applied the parameters of John’s description of this event using computer modeling software at Liverpool University in London to assess the size and speed of the “great burning mountain” he said will strike the sea near Rome.

My research shows this object to be a meteor between 5 and 7 miles wide, traveling close to sixty five thousand miles per hour when it strikes!

The amount of debris resulting from the impact will create a kind of dust blanket around the earth, blocking light from both the sun and moon for years!

I believe this will bring about the darkness in Revelation chapter 16 verse 10 that falls upon the kingdom of the beast before the Lord's return.

In verse 15 of the same Chapter, those who are late during the Summer harvest are told to be vigilant, which I believe points to those who were not caught up during the first Summer gathering.

Both the second and third Trumpets of the 7th Seal pertain to two objects, and in separate visions of these impacts, the second was no more than a few weeks after the first.

I believe the second such object may strike the northeastern United States, perhaps near New York and the site of the UN due to its hatred and persecution of Israel.

Here is the order of events I expect once the 7th Seal opens:

- 1) The head wound to the first beast
  - 2) A meteor off the coast of Italy (Second Trumpet)
  - 3) A second object (the 3rd Trumpet), perhaps striking New York
